Hi Dave,

Sorry if you got a similar message. I dont know if my others went through.

I am working with Divya on ConnectU stuff. I just had a small problem. What I'm working on now is getting emails of thefacebook.com. My problem is that I can't navigate to the pages that I want through java since there is a login page. I dont really know how the session works. Do you know how to login to a php page keep your session info and then navigate to another page using the URL and HTTPUrlConnection clients. I tried this to no avail:

        URL url = new URL("http://www.thefacebook.com/login.php");

                        HttpURLConnection connection = (HttpURLConnection)
url.openConnection();
                        connection.setRequestMethod("POST");
                        connection.setDoOutput(true); PrintWriter out = new PrintWriter(connection.getOutputStream());
                        // encode the message
                        String email = "email=" +
URLEncoder.encode("drm25@cornell.edu", "UTF-8"); String pass = "pass="+URLEncoder.encode("**",
"UTF-8");
                        // send the encoded message
                        out.println(email+"&"+pass);
                        out.close();
                        BufferedReader in = new BufferedReader( new InputStreamReader(connection.getInputStream())); String line;
                        while ((line = in.readLine()) != null) {
                               System.out.println(line);
                        in.close();

If you have any suggestions it would be super helpful. Thanks again.

Deva
